Novia has added the Pension Performance Review Company to its platform to provide advisers with a thorough and efficient system for documenting pension transfers.

Paul Cadde, managing director of the Pension Performance Review Company. said the move would help advisers adapt to changing adviser demand.

He said: "Novia is the kind of forward-thinking company that advisers should be doing business with and together we are sure we can help to get clients pension investments working harder for them by using the modern technology and range of investment instruments that Novia provide access to."

Martin Broomfield, head of marketing at Novia added: "Retirement planning is for many advisers and their customers the most important component of a wrap, however, it is similarly one that can be fraught with logistical and process issues.

"By combining the benefits of this software system with the flexibility of the Novia self-invested personal pension, it opens up the opportunity for the adviser community to confidently tackle pension transfer discussions."
